

"ONE BIG UNION": THE DREAM, THE REALITY, THE HISTORY THE IWW AND A CENTURY OF RADICAL LABOR ACTIVISM, 1905-2005

A Conference and a Celebration Saturday, May 7, 2005

Paul Robeson Campus Center, Rutgers University, Newark Campus
350 Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd. Newark, NJ

2005 marks one hundred years since the founding of the Industrial Workers of the World ("The Wobblies"), a profound event in American labor and radical history -- indeed in American history - - and a point from which it is possible to trace the fortunes and misfortunes of progressive and left politics in America for the rest of the century. This conference brings together scholars, actors, artists, and worker-activists, for dialogue and reflection on the following questions: What forces produced this extraordinary dream of a unified, indeed global movement of workers for radical social change -- of bringing men and women across industries, cultures and languages into "One Big Union"? Who were these visionaries and what were their specific strategies? What were the movement's successes and failures? Where is it now? What is the history of the IWW in New Jersey? What are the legacies and traditions of the IWW that matter for working people today? By answering these questions collectively our goal is to better understand what light present and past shed on one another.

Co-sponsored by the New Jersey May Day Committee/Spirit of the Arts Foundation, Rutgers University-Newark Department of History, and Rutgers Institute on Ethnicity, Culture and the Modern Experience, in cooperation with the American Social History Project (CUNY), American Labor Museum/Botto House, and the Malia Collective of Italian American Women, and partially funded by a grant from the New Jersey Council for the Humanities.

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Coffee & Registration (attendance is free; $15 suggested donation to cover lunch and refreshments) 8:30-9:00

Keynote Session: "One Big Union" – The History and Legacy of the IWW 9:00-10:30

Rosalyn Baxandall, American Studies/Media and Communications, SUNY-Old Westbury
Steve Golin, History Department, Bloomfield College
Joyce Kornbluh, Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations, University of Michigan-Ann Arbor
Jeffrey Perry, union activist, independent scholar, and author of A Hubert Harrison Reader

Moderated by Jennifer Guglielmo, History Department, Smith College

Morning Plenary – The IWW in Paterson

10:45-12:00

Salvatore Salerno, Sociology Department, Ridgewater College
Francis Shor, Interdisciplinary Studies, Wayne State University
Anne F. Mattina, Department of Communication, Stonehill College
Mark Noon, English Department, Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania

Moderated by Steve Golin, History Department, Bloomfield College

LUNCH 12:15-1:15

Afternoon Workshops – The IWW and Radical Culture: Telling It/Selling It

1:30-2:45

Workshop 1: Writing It: Print, Poetry, and the Poetics of Radicalism

Moderated by Flavia Alaya, writer, professor of Cultural History (retired), Ramapo College

"Italian Immigrant Radicals and the Poetics of the IWW"

Marcella Bencivenni, History Department, Hostos Community College

"Carlo Tresca and the IWW"

Nunzio Pernicone, History Department, Drexel University

"Living the Revolution: Italian Immigrant Women's Anarchist Feminist Cultural Work in New Jersey, 1890-1919"

Jennifer Guglielmo, Department of History, Smith College

Workshop 2: Performing It: The Music and Drama of Protest & Labor

Moderated by Paul Buhle, Department of American Civilization, Brown University

"Creative Tactics: Dramatic Sketches from the Pages of The One Big Union Monthly"

Carmelina Cartei, Theatre Department, CUNY Graduate Center & the Theater of the Oppressed Laboratory

"Man of Many Trades and Truths: The Evolution of a Labor Radical – Ralph Hosea Chaplin"

John B. Namnoum, Education Department, University of Illinois at Chicago

"Singing of Heaven Above, Singing of Hell Right Here: Songs of the Salvation Army and IWW as Comparative Ideological Texts"

Stephen N. Sanfilippo, History Department, SUNY at Stony Brook

Workshop 3: Taking It on the Road: The Wobblies Here and Beyond

Moderated by Joyce Kornbluh

"Let Americanism Rule": The Industrial Workers of the World and the Mesabi Range Miner's Strike of 1916"

David LaVigne, Department of History, University of Minnesota

"The IWW in International Perspective: Dilemmas of Internationalism"

Wayne Thorpe, McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario

Intermezzo Performance by Phyllis Capello aka The Ukulele Lady

3:00-3:30

Introduction to The Traveling Wobbly Exhibit with Paul Buhle

Afternoon Roundtable – United in Difference? Organizing for Now, Organizing for the Future

3:45-5:00

Vermont Workers Center
Garment Workers Solidarity Center
Committee for Welfare and Social Progress
Industrial Workers of the World

Moderated by Jeannette Gabriel, History Department, CUNY
Simultaneous translation English/Spanish

Songs for a Radical Century: Closing Songfest with the Solidarity Singers

5:00-5:30

* Book exhibits (Charles H. Kerr, Verso, and local independent bookstores) and The Traveling Wobbly Show, an art exhibit, will also be on display in the Robeson Center. See www.wobblyshow.org for more info.

CLOSING CELEBRATION AND BOOK PARTY, SATURDAY MAY 7 AT 6:30PM

Please join us for the New York City launch of Wobblies: A Graphic History, with co-editor Paul Buhle (Verso, 2005). The gathering begins at 6:30pm, at the historic Chumley's Bar, 86 Bedford Street, in the West Village, Manhattan – a center of IWW organizing in New York City during the heyday of the organization. Subway: 1, 9 to Christopher Street. (For more information on Wobblies go to www.versobooks.com.)

HOW TO GET TO RUTGERS-NEWARK

For info on mass transit see <http://www.newark.rutgers.edu/masstransit/>

BY PLANE The campus is just a 15-minute car ride from Newark Liberty International Airport, and now you can take the new air train from the airport to Newark Penn Station (See By Newark City Subway).
BY RAIL From Harrison, Jersey City, Hoboken, NYC: PATH to Penn Station, Newark From NYC and South: AMTRAK, NJT and PATH to Penn Station, Newark New Jersey Transit (NJT) Information 1-800-772-2222

BY CAR Via Route 280 (From West): At Newark/Harrison split, follow signs for Harrison to Exit 14 (King Blvd). At bottom of ramp, turn right onto King Blvd. Continue for 4 1/2 blocks to campus.

Via Route 280 (From East): Take Exit 14B (King Blvd). At bottom of ramp, turn left, following signs for Rutgers. At King Blvd turn left and continue for 4 1/2 blocks to campus.

Via Garden State Parkway: Take Exit 145 and proceed to Route 280 toward Newark-Harrison. Then follow Route 280 (From West) above.

Via NJ Turnpike: Take exit 15W (West) to Route 280 (West). Then follow Route 280 (From East) above.

Via Route 21 (McCarter Highway): Turn west on Raymond Blvd and continue to Washington St. Turn right (North) on Washington St. to Bleeker St. then left to King Blvd.

BY BUS NJT serves Union, Essex, Morris, Passaic, Bergen and Hudson counties and NYC to Newark.

BY NEWARK CITY SUBWAY Service between Penn Station, Newark and Belleville border. Subway makes 11 stops; Washington St. station is one block from campus.

WHERE TO STAY

Robert Treat Hotel www.RTHotel.com 973.622.1000
Hilton Gateway www.newarkgateway.hilton.com 973.622.5000

Both the Robert Treat and Hilton Gateway are a short walk from campus, and are near all downtown attractions. We have reserved a group of rooms, discounted to the Rutgers rate at $95 per night at the Robert Treat Hotel. The Treat provides a shuttle bus to and from the airport at no extra charge, and a shuttle bus to the Newark-Penn Station. These rooms should be reserved by APRIL 15 to receive the discounted rate. Ask for "IWW Conference." The Hilton also has a Courtesy Bus from the Newark Airport. Call them for information.

WHAT TO DO: See <http://www.newark.rutgers.edu/visitors/> for info on the cultural life of Newark

This conference was made possible by a grant from the New Jersey Council for the Humanities, a state partner of the National Endowment for the Humanities. Any views, findings, conclusions or commendations in this program do not necessarily represent those of the National Endowment for the Humanities or the New Jersey Council for the Humanities.

